

Try this at home - The Extrasolar Planet Search

The effort to search for extrasolar planets has broadened and deepened. It now enjoys the assistance of amateur astronomers (aka “unpaid astronomers”), students and lay observers.

SoVerA President Claudio Veliz will describe how researchers and amateurs are working together to find these compelling objects including a hands-on demonstration of how one particular instrument may be used with one’s backyard telescope to detect these objects.

When: 9 March, 7PM

Where: Whiting Library in Chester, Vermont

Cost: Free + Open to the Public